

• LETTER TO THE EDITOR •

The Puerto Rico Health Sciences Journal at CDC Library

Dear Dr. Wojna:

Last Friday I had the chance to visit the CDC in Atlanta to attend the naming of the CDC Library the “Stephen Thacker Library” to recognize a friend and colleague from CDC. I was very pleasantly surprised to find out that the primary shelf for journals, right at the entrance of the library, has two copies of the PRHSJ. This is a shelf that has perhaps about 75 journals of the hundreds that they receive every week. To have the PRHSJ right in that spot is a major recognition among many national and international health sciences journals.

I thought that you, as Editor of the PRHSJ may want to know and enjoy this important recognition.

Sincerely,

José F. Cordero

José F. Cordero, MD, MPH
Professor and Dean
Graduate School of Public Health
Medical Sciences Campus
University of Puerto Rico

